It's what we do, It's all we do, and No One does it better

Outdoor Building Products

J&W Lumber has a long rich history of providing outdoor building materials in Southern California and is proud to remain a family-owned business that looks forward to serving you!

In 1957, J&W Lumber was established by Charley Jennings in San Diego, initially selling reclaimed wood, then later becoming a leader in the Redwood industry.

Today J&W Lumber has greatly expanded our product offerings and has grown into a Southern California leader in a wide range of Outdoor Building Products; supplying everything from traditional lumber and custom milling, to modern manufactured products and hard-to-find materials.

Our top-quality products, customer service focused team and history make us the choice for years to come.

Outdoor Building Products, It's What We Do, It's All Do, and No One Does It Better.
